Move Is Made Towards Granting Farmers Longer Terms of Credit—Acceptances of 6 Months Maturity Provided for.

(Associated Press Leased Wire.)
WASHINGTON, Dec. 20.—Bankers' acceptances of the six months' maturity draft by growers of the staple agricultural products or cooperative marketing associations are eligible for rediscount by the Federal Reserve Bank under a ruling promulgated today by the Federal Reserve Board as a step in the direction of the long of term credits for agriculture.

Officials declared the decision which makes the agricultural paper eligible for rediscount for six months instead of three should be of material assistance to cooperative associations in financing the orderly marketing of the crop. Acceptances of the six months have been asked for by many agricultural organizations and the longer period is believed by officials to be more nearly in accord with the turnover required by the farmers to market the crops, as on whose production he has borrowed money. The ruling required that the acceptance be secured by農業家 receipts covering the product against which the acceptances are drawn. It is in line with a policy announced sometime ago which made eligible for rediscount acceptances drawn to finance domestic storage of commodities pending marketing.

Two Killed In Auto Wreck

(Associated Press Leased Wire.)
RALEIGH, N. C., Dec. 20.—The body of a man who was instantly killed last night when the auto in which he was riding turned over about five miles south of here was identified today as that of Joe Stone, a farmer who lived near Cary in this county. Mr. Stone, a guard at the state prison farm who was with Stone received injuries which resulted in his death at a hospital last night. From the condition of the car it is evident that it was travelling at high speed. Officers who went to the scene of the accident say that a quantity of liquor was found in the wreckage.

Baker Appears In War Frauds Probe Now On

Secretary of War in Wilson's Cabinet Testifies Before Grand Jury Investigating Alleged Irregularities in Building War Camps.

(Associated Press Leased Wire.)
WASHINGTON, Dec. 20.—Newton D. Baker, who was Secretary of War in President Wilson's war-time cabinet, appeared today before the special grand jury which is in session here investigating war frauds. The purpose for which he went before the grand jury was not revealed but it is known recently the interest has centred about alleged irregularities in the building of war camps. Several civil suits to recover millions of dollars from contractors have been filed and department of justice officials have announced that criminal action would be sought. Several other officials of the government have been before the jury which yesterday questioned Bernard M. Baruch, who was chairman of the war industries board.

While the firm of Overstreet and Nancy of Bedford turned in the low bid for the construction of a little more than six miles of concrete road running west from Sandy River, the contract has not been awarded. A conflict in understanding from reports emanating from Richmond and a few days ago in the office of the highway commissioner in the office of the highway commissioner in the office in Richmond which listed the successful bidders for different pieces of work were intended to show their prices, and not necessarily that the contracts had been automatically awarded the lowest bidders.

It develops that while the contracts are awarded to the lowest bidder the commission has the right to reject any bid or all bids and reports from Richmond which listed the unsuccessful bidders for different pieces of work were intended to show their prices, and not necessarily that the contracts had been automatically awarded the lowest bidders.

Mrs. Niels Gron Granted Divorce

Mrs. Denton's Case Is Continued Again

Further postponement was granted in the police court this morning of a warrant issued about six weeks ago against woman whose name appears as "Mrs. Denton," who is charged with operating a disorderly house. The case has been set for various dates but has been continued about nine times. The case was to have come up this morning but it was continued again no date being set. Committee for the woman is said to have a list of witnesses, a number not having yet been reached. This was the reason ascribed for the failure of the court to come to trial this morning.

Her testimony was that Gron had acted harshly toward her and while they were apart he had written her letters filled with abusive phrases.

Gron testified his wife had made efforts to turn the boy against his father and the boy had once told him,

"I am trying to get away from his father."

Her attempt at suicide because he was lonely away from his father.

Treasury to Begin Drive On Narcotics

Port to Stop Smuggling Through Pacific Coast Ports Planned at Once—Force Is Too Small.

Public Endorses the Noble Prize Awards For Year

WASHINGTON, Dec. 20.—The federal government is preparing for a vigorous attack on the drug evil, it was revealed yesterday.

This attack will be launched through the customs division of the treasury department to check smuggling of opium, morphine and other narcotics at Pacific Coast ports from the Orient.

The conference on the treasury appropriation bill for the 1924 fiscal year, now pending before Congress, have agreed to make available immediately upon passage a portion of the amount allotted to the customs service. The treasury plan to use a portion of this money for the employment of additional inspectors at San Francisco, Los Angeles, Seattle and other coast ports.

At present, the treasury claims, it is not possible with the limited number of inspectors available to make complete inspection of all boats. A representative of the customs service from Washington on a recent trip to the coast had this matter up with customs officials there.

Smugglers resort to all manner of schemes to conceal narcotics aboard ships where they will escape discovery unless a thorough search of every part of the vessel is made.

In one case recently at San Francisco, inspectors searched two days after a ship reached port without uncovering the cache. Then, as a last resort, one of the inspectors crawled into a boiler that had not been fired up on the voyage, and found $45,000 of drugs concealed there. In another recent instance at New York, packages of drugs were found tied high up in the rigging to one of the masts.

Other instances are reported of smugglers dumping drug consignments overboard at the outer waters of a port, to be picked up by waiting small boats.

The increasing of the customs inspection forces will make possible, in the opinion of treasury officials, a more rigid enforcement of the drastic provisions of the Jones-Miller narcotic act passed by Congress last spring. This act provides penalties of $25 an ounce against the owners of any vessel bringing in opium and disproportionate penalties for other drugs. Label of the ship is provided for to secure the payment of these penalties.

Officials of the department of justice and the treasury entrusted with the enforcement of the Harrison narcotic law against domestic sales of drugs declare that with the enormous profits in the trade, experience has proved that it is next to impossible to stop drug peddling as long as the trade can continue to be supplied with smuggled wares from abroad. The best they can hope for is to hold it in check until the source of supply can be wiped out.

Marriage Doomed For Discard, Predicts This Woman Writer

BY JOSEPHINE VAN de GRIFT

(Special to The Bee.)
NEW YORK, Dec. 20.—Is the venerable institution of matrimony bound for the discard?

Have the myriads of women who went out into the world seeking financial independence made a discoloring mark on the very foundations of the very fabric of society?

Women doctors, lawyers and accountants have allied themselves with the Rev. Almon M. Hensley, minister and one-time suffragist, opened a "Woman's Club" in New York City, which, according to the Rev. Hensley, predicts that "the next few years will see determined studies toward a marriage compact that shall be as binding entered into and as readily dissolved as the ordinary business agreement."

Everyone knows," she maintains. That as far as social law goes the question of marriage is purely one of economic import. With every step that women have taken toward economic independence there has been a growing revulsion toward marriage as such.

The signs of the times point to a desire for easy divorce. This is the best proof of the need of reform in marriage. There are no satisfied married people trying to get apart.

It is a supreme impertinence that the law, either social or judicial, should presume to interfere in the intimate relations of men and women.

Here are conditions which, according to Mrs. Hensley, will tend to become general during the next 30 years:

MARRIAGE—The marriage contract will be purely a business contract for the protection of children. There will be nothing in it to compel a man and woman to live together.

WOMAN—The woman will maintain her independence and live her own life. Motherhood will be pensioned. Society will remove the obligation from the unmarried mother.

CHILDREN—Children will live

"YELLOW KID" GIVEN FREEDOM

SPRINGFIELD, ILLS., Dec. 19.—Joseph E. Welch, the "Yellow Kid" noted confidence man, today received a common sentence from Governor Frank M. Shuman which will enable him to spend Christmas at home. Welch's five year sentence to Joliet prison allowing for good conduct reduction would have expired next February. Governor Shuman cut two months from his sentence and ordered him held at one-half pay.

Frank Bucamister, pal of "Yellow Kid" Welch, will be paroled tomorrow under the automatic parole law so that he may leave prison together.

"Jimmy" Head, associate of both Welch and Bucamister, was paroled about a year ago but was caught in the act of robbing a jeweler's store here and is now the remainder of his sentence.

Treasury to Begin Drive On Narcotics

Plan to Stop Smuggling Through Pacific Coast Ports Planned at Once—Force Is Too Small.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 20.—The federal government is preparing for a vigorous attack on the drug evil, it was revealed yesterday.

This attack will be launched through the customs division of the treasury department to check smuggling of opium, morphine and other narcotics at Pacific Coast ports from the Orient.

The conference on the treasury appropriation bill for the 1924 fiscal year, now pending before Congress, have agreed to make available immediately upon passage, a portion of the amount allotted to the customs service. The treasury plans to use a portion of this money for the employment of additional inspectors at San Francisco, Los Angeles, Seattle and other coast ports.

At present, the treasury claims, it is not possible with the limited number of inspectors available to make complete inspection of all boats. A representative of the customs service from Washington on a recent trip to the coast had this matter up with customs officials there.

Smugglers resort to all manner of schemes to conceal narcotics aboard ship where they will escape discovery unless a thorough search of every part of the vessel is made.

In one case recently at San Francisco, Inspector searched two days after a ship reached port without discovering the cache. Then, as a last resort, one of the inspectors crawled into a boiler that had not been fired on the voyage and found $45,000 of drugs concealed there. In another recent instance at New York, packages of drugs were found tied high up in the rigging to one of the masts.

Other instances are reported of smugglers dumping drug consignments overboard at the outer waters of a port, to be picked up by waiting small boats.

The increasing of the customs inspection forces will make possible, in the opinion of treasury officials, a more rigid enforcement of the drastic provisions of the Jones-Miller narcotics act passed by Congress last spring. This act imposes penalties of $25 an ounce against the owners of any vessel bringing in opium and disproportionate penalties for other drugs. Label of the ship is provided for to secure the payment of these penalties.

Officials of the department of justice and the treasury entrusted with the enforcement of the Harrison narcotic law, against domestic sales of drugs declare that with the enormous profits in the trade, experience has proved that it is next to impossible to stop drug peddling as long as the trade can continue to be supplied with smuggled wares from abroad. The best chance for us to hold it in check until the source of supply can be wiped out.

Prohibition Commissioner Hayes, said yesterday he would be in Portland, Ore., January 18, to deliver an address and from there would go to San Francisco and Los Angeles to look into the drug traffic on the coast.

Public Endorses the Noble Prize Awards For Year

STOCKHOLM, Dec. 19.—The reasons for its choice of prize winners in this year's awards, $200,000.00 have been announced by the Nobel Institute. This Swedish institution awards annual prizes of $40,000.00 each for notable achievement in the fields of physics, chemistry, medicine, literature and in the cause of peace. Sometimes the list of names selected is more or less surprising to the public at large, but in general the wisdom and insight of the judges is endorsed.

The award in literature, which seems to arouse more popular interest than any other, goes this year, not to Thomas Hardy, as had been hoped by his Swedish friends, but to the Spanish playwright Jacinto Benavente, who though little known outside of his own country, is said to have done more than any other dramatist to modernize, and bring fresh stimulus to the Spanish theater.

He has written about 80 plays during the last 30 years. His comedies of social satire are directed at the temporary life in Spain, and he is held up to the mirror to human nature, but in point of view, and refined in style.

Professor Albert Einstein, of Germany, received the 1921 prize in physics, not for his famous theories of relativity, but the photo-electric effect of atoms. "This law," said a prominent Swedish scientist, "is the bridge which leads from theories concerning atomic structure to facts which can be experimentally verified."

The physics prize for 1922 goes to Professor Niels Bohr of Denmark, who is only 37 years of age and the youngest person who has ever received a Nobel prize, for his discovery of methods by which the inner structure of atoms may be studied. He has, in fact, been able to construct atoms artificially which correspond in substance and size to an analysis of the natural particles produced.

Bohr is of the opinion that every scientific advance, even those which for a time may seem only academic and frivolic, will some day have a direct practical value to humanity.

No announcement of awards of this year's prizes for medicine and peace have been made. It will be remembered that Americans have already captured three peace prizes. Theodore Roosevelt, Elihu Root, and Woodrow Wilson were the winners in 1906, 1912, and 1919 respectively. The Nobel Institute was established by the will of Alfred Nobel, Swedish scientist, best known for his invention of dynamite, who bequeathed his entire fortune of $30,000,000 kronor, about $8,000,000 for this purpose. The first annual prizes were distributed in 1901.

BRILLIANT YOUNG NEGRO ORATOR HERE

Charles Satchell Morris, of Norfolk, Va., graduate of the University of Chicago and a brilliant young negro orator who made a Labor Day address in the High Street Baptist church in September, 1920, was in Danville yesterday, on his way to Boston, where his father is principal of the Boynton Institute. He has just returned from a sixteen weeks speaking tour in the States of Arkansas, Oklahoma, Texas, Louisiana, Mississippi, Alabama and Georgia in the interest of good will and better inter-racial relations. While in Texas he went all over the State speaking under the auspices of the General Baptist State convention. Although only 24 years of age, he has a remarkable gift of oratory and an unusually thorough education both of which are being devoted to the promotion of harmonious and helpful relations between the two races in the South.

Claim Motive In Typist's Slaying

RICHMOND, Va., Dec. 19.—A motive for the killing of Mrs. Thelma Richardson was established in the mind of Commonwealth's Attorney Satterfield this afternoon through an affidavit made by Mrs. Bertha Louise Beck, the choir singer in the South side.

In the affidavit Mrs. Beck stated that she and Thomas Pollard intended to be married as soon as they could secure their divorces; also that she thinks as much now as then as she ever did, and considered him a very dear friend." She said that he has given her various articles of jewelry.

Beck recently entered suit in circuit court, Part II, for divorce. She said that at 7:35 the night of the shooting of Mrs. Richardson, Pollard shot her in the head with a pistol. She said that he could not be engaged with her while it was for her to speak that night because Mrs. Richardson was at her home and threatened to come over to Mrs. Beck's house and cause trouble, as Mrs. Beck asserted in the affidavit she had done the previous evening.

Mrs. Beck made a long statement in which she told of various engagements which she had with Thomas Pollard, and of the occasions which she had took place at her house Wednesday evening.

She said Mrs. Richardson came to her door and asked for Thomas Pollard, and that Pollard's automobile was in front of the house.

Attorney Satterfield today announced that he has enough evidence in hand to indicate that Mrs. Richardson was not killed the night of Dec. 11 while in a "scuffle" with Thomas Pollard, as alleged in testimony given by J. Mosby West before a coroner's jury that Thursday.

Charged With Murder.

Contrary to the erroneous impression which has been circulated that Thomas Pollard is simply charged with the killing of Mrs. Richardson, the language of the police blotter discloses that he is charged with murder and that J. Mosby West is charged with aiding and abetting the murderer.

Neither Pollard nor his attorneys have made any statement concerning the killing, and it is understood that none will be forthcoming from them until the case is brought to a hearing in police court Dec. 23.

The police blotter reads as follows:

"Thomas Pollard, white, 33, real estate agent, on a warrant, did unlawfully and feloniously and of his malice, did kill and murder one Mrs. Thelma Richardson."

"J. Mosby West, white, 33, male, Virginian, on warrant, did unlawfully and feloniously aid and abet one Thomas Pollard to feloniously kill and murder one Mrs. Thelma Richardson."

"In the affidavit Mrs. Beck stated that she and Thomas Pollard intended to be married as soon as they could secure their divorces; also that she thinks as much now as then as she ever did, and considered him a very dear friend."

Interest in the police investigation today centered on the effort of the authorities to learn the full details of the killing whether Pollard shot Mrs. Richardson accidentally or otherwise; whether the woman killed herself in the alleged "scuffle" which ensued between them, and whether Mrs. Richardson went to the Pollard house alone.

PAINTER Sensational Disclosure.

Commonwealth's Attorney Satterfield and members of the departmental bureau of the police department who have been working on the case have gathered sufficient evidence to afford what it is believed, will be a sensational disclosure when the affair is aired in court. This disclosure has to do with certain witness whose name heretofore has not been mentioned in connection with the killing, described as an "important witness" upon whom the State will rely largely on its prosecution.

Neither Pollard nor his attorneys have made any statement concerning the killing, and it is understood that none will be forthcoming from them until the case is brought to a hearing in police court Dec. 23.

Noted Writer of Adventure Seeks Thrills—Battles Giant Grizzly

By NEA Service

MELDFORD, Ore., Nov. 60.—Started by the crashing of underbrush, Edision Marshall, noted fiction writer, turned to meet the savage glare of a monster grizzly bear.

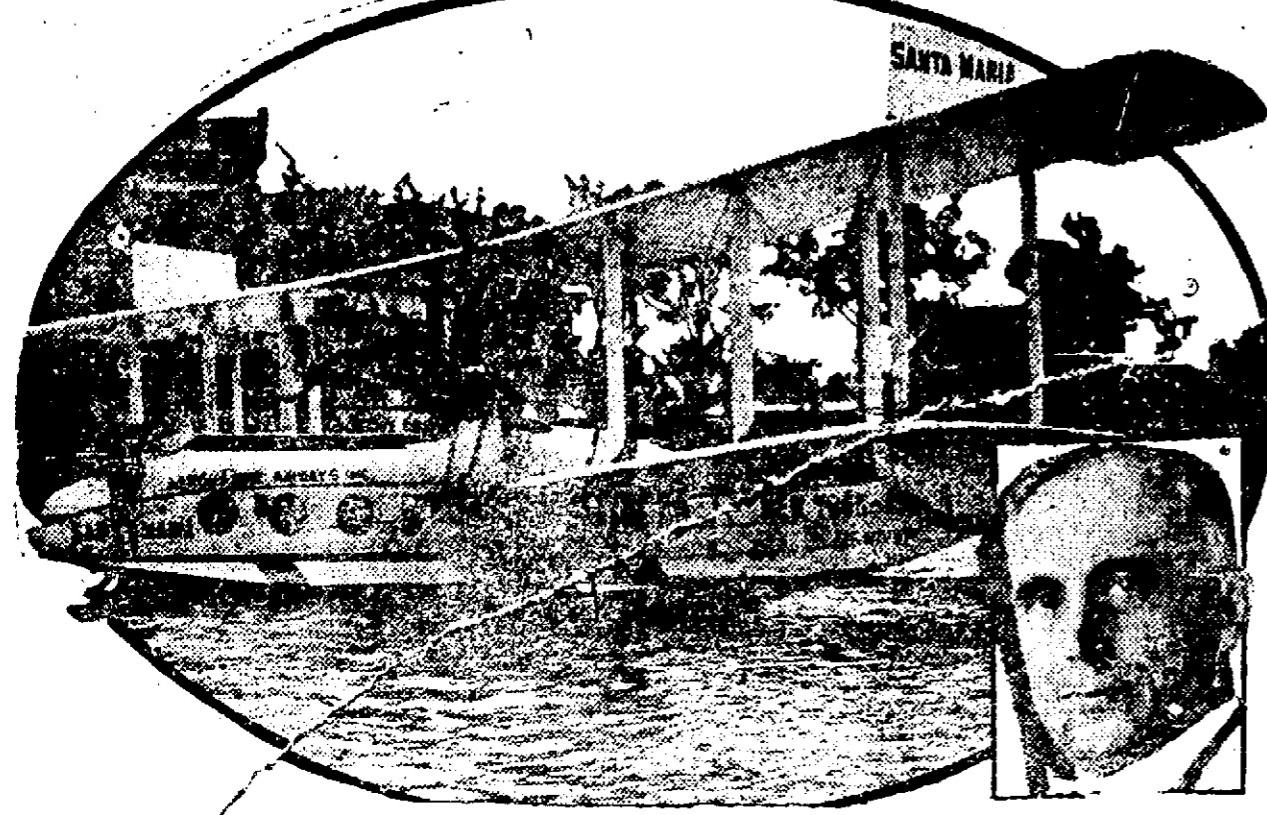

Quick as a flash, Marshall fired. The grizzly paused for a moment; then, enraged into even greater ferociousness by the sting of the wound, charged. Marshall put everything he had—including a prayer—into one more shot—the last he would be able to fire before the bear would be upon him. Luck was with him, the bear fell dead at Marshall's feet.

"And that," said Marshall today, to a reporter for this paper and NEA Service, "is my answer to your question whether it is easy to write fiction."

Marshall is a writer who believes in getting material first hand. The encounter with the grizzly occurred while he was in Alaska, in search of "color." And to prove it, he brought forth a picture showing him and the conquered grizzly in a canoe, crossing back to camp.

"Sky Line of Spruce," Marshall's latest story, is replete with thrills described by a man who has experienced myriads of them. It tells of adventure and romance in the great outdoors of Canada's Caribou Range.

The joy of a record that is virtually noiseless

THOSE grinding
surface noises that have so insistently made themselves heard through the music
you love will now annoy you no more. Because Columbia has discovered a process which produces a phonograph record surface so fine in texture, so marvelously smooth that the needle travels over it almost inaudibly.

This new and unbelievably quiet surface makes the phonograph what it should be, a musical instrument of the highest and purest type—giving you every inflection, the most delicate phrasing, exquisitely expressed shades of harmony that have previously been lost in obtrusive surface sounds.

The New Columbia Records out to-day are all made with this ultra fine, ultra smooth and quiet, new surface.

For beauty of sentiment, charm of melody and richness of vocal expression you will find Oscar Seagle's singing of "Where the Morning Glories Twine" a glory of sheer delight. It is one of those old-fashioned melodies that make your heartstrings sing in unison, and it is deliciously free from irritating scratch or scrape.

Tear out the accompanying list, take it to a Columbia Dealer and listen to any or all of these New Process Columbia Records. Note the smoothness and fullness of tone. Note the beauty of expression.
Only in New Process Columbia Records will you find this new and quiet surface. The process is patented.

"Habit Clinics" To Cure Crime

MORE MURDERS

NEWARK, N. J., Dec. 20.—More than three times as many murders occurred in America's 28 largest cities last year than 20 years ago. The rate per 100,000 population was 0.5 highest in history, as compared with 0.5 in the previous year. These figures were announced by Dr. Frederick L. Hoffman, consulting statistician of the Prudential Life Insurance Co. Seventeen of the 28 cities show an increase in murder, he says. Memphis still leads, with a murder rate of 56.8.

BY EDWARD THIERRY

(Special to The Bee)

BOSTON, Dec. 20.—"Fight the crime wave exactly as we fight disease epidemics."

That is the answer of Dr. L. Vernon Briggs, famous criminologist, to the problem of increasing murder and lesser crime in America.

In an interview with NEA Service, Dr. Briggs, author of "The Manner of Man That Kills," director of the Massachusetts Society for Mental Hygiene, and member of the American Institute of Criminal Law and Criminology, made these recommendations:

Abolish capital punishment.

Sentence criminals guilty of capital crime to life imprisonment—and let science study their cases.

Establish "habit clinics" in every city for subnormal and abnormal children between two and seven to prevent possible future criminality.

Dr. Briggs says punishment cannot stop crime because it doesn't remove the cause. He cites the "habit clinic" of Boston, established seven months ago under Dr. Thom, as the only agency directed toward preventing crime by striking at the cause of it.

Kill Disease, Not Patient.

"When we fight typhoid, tuberculosis, yellow fever and similar disease epidemics," he says, "we don't kill the people afflicted and destroy the germs and every bit of evidence about them. Instead we study the cases, isolate them, examine the germs microscopically, and find a serum that will cure. Science strives to kill the disease, not the patient."

"Why not treat crime like that? Why kill the patient by hanging or electrocution, and kill the evidence with him? Hanging was originally designed as a deterrent—a horrid example—because it was public. Now it is secret. The man who suffers from the disease of criminality isn't moved by an example he hears about second hand."

Dr. Briggs suggests legislation that will make capital criminals available for scientific study. But to get at the root of the trouble he would insist habit clinics" established in every city.

"Laws are archaic," he says, "when they judge criminals insane on the basis of not knowing right from wrong. By that test 90 per cent of those sent to asylums rather than prison for capital crimes are perfectly sane—for even a domestic animal knows the difference between right and wrong."

Present Generation Can't Be Cured.

"A person may be sane, yet mentally defective. Those are the ones we should save from possible future lives of crime by bringing them under observation at the pre-school age. We will never check the crime wave until we regulate mentally and physically those children who through environment may become the criminal class of the next generation. The present generation cannot be cured. The next can, because science knows that heredity has little to do with criminal tendencies, but environment has."

Only half a dozen cases were docketed on the police blotter this morning, all of them minor charges.

The case of Henry Ford, charged with stealing a motor-meter from an automobile, came up but the major reserved his decision until tomorrow. The instrument was found in Ford's possession but the negro adheres to a story, which he first related to the police, that he found it in an alley on Anderson row, and no evidence to contradict him has been brought out.

Wilber Foster, colored, was summoned back tomorrow to answer a charge of failing to pay his dog tax.

Eddie Waugh, arrested as a fugitive from justice from Greensboro, is being held pending arrival of authorities from that place. He was serving a three-year term at the time of his escape.

Jennie Jones, colored, also arrested as a fugitive from Greensboro, has been turned over to authorities from that place. She was charged with the larceny of a pair of shoes.

There was also one drunk case settled, and a loafing case continued until tomorrow.

the centuries by millions of inquiring minds.

Knowledge is a circus with a million rings, all going at once, no man able to grasp the whole show. The choice is to watch one ring intently (specialize) or wander up and down the tent, picking up a smattering about all rings in general and none in particular.

French writers seem to grasp the idea. It is not unusual for one of them to devote a lifetime of research to writing the history of one article—such as the pin, glove or sparrow.

HOLLYWOOD'S ARTISTIC LICENSE

Hollywood's latest tragic drama in real life presented to a country already saturated with the wild and savory stories which have come with painful regularity from the film colony, is one which bears a striking moral. There is something cruel about the fate which hangs over the moving picture centre. There is hardly a tragedy which does not find its counterpart on the screen if we pause and hark back to film productions we have seen in the near or remote past.

Wallace Reid's present plight fails on a sympathetic country. Everybody who is in the habit of going to the movies has seen the strapping young man of engaging open countenance invariably cast in a role which wins him public approbation. The movie villains would probably not produce the expressions of genuine concern that are being heard about the stalwart actor now in a grim battle against death. There seems no doubt that while Reid's present plight is not the immediate outcome of dissipation, his present state of exhaustion is due to narcotics and other forms of dissipation which appear to have a regular place in the regimen of Hollywood's life. The distinction is a fine one at best. The young actor is suffering from the effect of a manful denial of those things to which his body has become accustomed and it is a question of whether he can withstand the reaction which has set in.

His present plight is merely repetition of what others have suffered as result of overnight affluence. One is impressed with the danger of popularity which comes with hero worship. Extraordinary salaries combined with lax living and the bane of modern life which is called "artistic temperament" are responsible for the downward path to oblivion which is being followed by scores of men and women of Hollywood. Wallace Reid is a victim of the drug cult in numbered form and possibly he is realizing that too late. The third member of the club is that the film colony is an economically bankrupt from the stand of the art. Other less popular names in the case for instance than drug argues are being turned to in the California town you've heard of or determined after the part of State or Federal authorities to take the thing in hand. One seems to follow another all of them involving the same fundamental evils and resulting in the unmasking of a hideous life.

"GOOD READIN'"

In 1940 the world will celebrate the 500th anniversary of the invention of moveable type. Before this invention, printing was done by carving an entire page on a solid block of wood or metal.

In the 50 years after the first moveable type was brought out by Caster or Gutenberg, 40,000 books were printed.

Men rapidly developed the specific type reading.

Research men in England with more time than they know what to do with, have been chipping up. They estimate that about 15,000 separate books have been printed in all countries combined since the invention of moveable type.

Nearly 300,000 new books are turned loose on the world each year. And the flood steadily grows larger.

In addition, is the tremendous output of newspapers, magazines, trade papers, folders, booklets, etc.

Small wonder that most of us are perplexed when it comes to deciding what to read. We are like flies, facing a mountain of sugar, and unable to eat more than one grain at a time.

Rather a discouraging outlook for young writers. George Ade once said that the chief trouble with the writing business is that there is so much competition with dead men.

Even a rapid reader, reading all day and far into the night, would be unable to peruse more than 1 in 1000 of the new books issued yearly through the world.

Life is short. We are caged in by the limits of time.

As with books, so with knowledge. The most brilliant brain finds life the shortest to acquire more than a tiny fraction of the vast fund of knowledge accumulated and passed on through the centuries by millions of inquiring minds.

KATE WARD slept little that night. Her face turned toward the window, her eyes wide, she stared at the stars visible through the shades.

She tried to think the thing out, to find some principle in the tangled maze on which she might base her future course and by which she might measure her generosity or her selflessness toward the woman who claimed the sharing of parenthood with Dan Ward.

A silhouette parade of past events moved fitfully past her mental vision.

Kate had never deceived herself in her summing up of Dan, the man she married and the man she loved. She knew his shortcomings. She knew that women had figured much in his life before their marriage and that in a sense they had continued to be part of his life, even to the end.

But she believed that his love had been hers in spite of the froth of affairs and she knew that her own past life, revealed to him in an hour of depression on the morning he picked her up in the park had something to do with his fits of pursuit.

And through the emotional haze came the sense of having talked with someone. She had slept. Yet she distinctly remembered hearing a feminine voice speaking to her. Had it been something about a trunk?—"the trunk, the trunk." The phrase stuck in her mind.

She thought aloud.

"Was it a trunk? Whose trunk? Whose voice?"

Around World In Motorboat Means Battling Seas And Fleas

ARTICLE NO. 1

Thirty-five thousand miles around the world in a motorboat! This is the remarkable record just completed by Mr. and Mrs. A. Y. Gowen and their crew of eight in the Speclocks. This is the first installment of Mrs. Gowen's story, as told for The Bee.

By MRS. A. Y. Gowen As told to Alexandria Herman for N.E.A. Service.

TRAVELING 'round the world in a 66-foot motorboat is good sport. But it would be easier if the earth were smaller and the seas smoother. If ever I do it again—which I don't expect to do—I will insist that another woman be taken along. On the Speclocks there were nine men. All of them were as helpful as could be. But—they weren't women.

However, we didn't think about such trivialities when we began planning our trip more than 15 months back.

My husband hadn't taken a vacation in 14 years. His doctors ordered him away for a long rest. Before we realized it, we had talked ourselves into undertaking something that had never been accomplished before—a voyage around the world in a motorboat!

We left New York, cruised down the coast and made our final preparations for the jump-off from Miami, Fla. Most important of these—to me—was bobbing my hair. The men insisted it would make me a better sailor. Perhaps they were right; I was sea-sick only once. But now I'm going to let my hair grow long again.

Everything was ready by Aug. 21, 1921, and away we sailed.

The excitement began after we left Panama, and took the long jump across the Pacific.

We counted on getting gas and water at the small island of Tiakeo. When we got there after 22 days we found the gas. It had been sent by special steamer.

But there was no fresh water. For five days we had nothing to drink but coconut milk. It wasn't half bad; but we couldn't get accustomed to the cobra bugs that crawled with the nuts. They made life intolerable.

And the natives presented us with two live pigs and several chickens. We had to take them on board. But they, like the coconuts, were infested with the little bugs that would put the most hungry flea to shame.

We couldn't get rid of pests until we put out to sea, pushed the pigs and the chickens overboard and fumigated the ship.

Finally we reached Tahiti—4000 miles from America. With its fresh water, and several Americans, it sure did look good to us.

Before we left, we had a wedding on the boat. The day was stormy and the couple, Americans stopping at Papeete, were pretty sick before the ceremony was over.

What's Going On In the World

WEEK'S CHIEF EVENTS BRIEFLY TOLD

ENTS from Washington suggest that the government plans some action toward relieving the terrible economic situation in Europe.

There has been no official announcement but it is quite the custom at the capital to let a little news leak out, just before some important policy about to be adopted which men in high positions want the country to be prepared for but which they are not quite ready to talk about.

"This appears to be such a case."

Ernest Root, a great international authority, has been in consultation with President Harding.

Colonel Harvey, United States ambassador to England, has been called home to advise with Secretary of State Hughes, who has had interviews also with J. P. Morgan, the banker, marines, one destroyer, two monitors and one dynamite gun vessel. Great Britain, he added, had lost three auxiliaries by sinking and had disposed of 38 lighter vessels, including 24 submarines. One Japanese battleship, he continued, and 33 smaller vessels had been removed from the effective list and one light cruiser had been wrecked. France had disposed of one battleship, four cruisers, and 9 torpedo boats.

WILL DISCUSS CHILD WELFARE

RALEIGH, N. C., Dec. 19.—The North Carolina Conference for Social Service will meet in Raleigh January 24-25, when some of the most important legislation questions it has considered since its organization will be discussed, according to an announcement here tonight.

The report showed that neither the United States nor Japan plan to complete the scrapping of any existing capital ships, at least pending promulgation of the treaty, although both nations have stopped work on large building programs of capital ships.

Proposed changes in the state's prizer laws and child welfare will be the chief subjects under discussion, it was stated. Governor Cameron Morrison will be one of the speakers, and among the authorities on social problems who will address the conference are George W. Kirchway, dean of the law school of Columbia University, and Mrs. Charles Sullivan, of the Tennessee Child-Placing Society.

For the past year, the conference has had the services of Wiley B. Sanders as part time executive secretary. At the annual meeting, a movement will be launched to place Mr. Sanders in full time service.

Need for larger membership to support the "progressive" programs of the conference also will be emphasized," according to the announcement.

FORMER BANKER WAS INDICTED

ALBANY, Ga., Dec. 19.—S. C. Watson, former president of the First National Bank of Colquitt, Miller County, Georgia, and former mayor of Colquitt, was today indicted by the grand jury in United States Court here on thirty two counts, alleging embezzlement of sums totalling nearly $100,000.

Charges against Watson were first preferred about a year ago by a national bank examiner. The case will not come up for trial until the June term of the court, it is understood.

Watson will plead that he and his wife assigned sufficient property to the bank to repay the entire alleged shortage, that the bank did not lose a cent, and that the directors agreed not to prosecute him.

CONVERT KAISER LINERS TO OIL BURNERS

YOKOHAMA, Dec. 18.—All the Nippon Yoen Kaihatsu Liners operating between Yokohama and the Atlantic seaboard of America are to be converted into oil burners. The company is reported to have contracted with the Seaboard Oil Company for the fuel to supply at a price which will lower the cost of operating.

England would be glad to forgive France the money they owe to the British, but in that case the latter cannot pay the United States.

May Make Loan.

IT still appears certain that the government will refuse cancellation of the debt European countries owe in the United States.

It may be possible in some other way, however.

Unquestionably it is needed greatly.

All accounts agree that Germany is on the verge of financial collapse. Not only, seemingly, is she unable to meet the alleged demands at present, but it is doubtful if she can buy the food her people need already.

France's escape from her own difficulties depend on prompt payment of her claims against Germany.

Premier Bonar Law has intimated

but not if the amount remains pure guesswork.

Such in agreement, it is fair to believe what the American government hopes to provide for.

Daugherty Charges Drop.

THE impeachment proceeding begun by Congressman Keller of Minnesota against Attorney General Daugherty was abruptly terminated.

Rep. Keller, in a rage, declared that the judiciary committee of the House of Representatives, which was conducting a preliminary hearing of the case, was trying to "whitewash" Daugherty.

For that reason, he said he would not go on with the matter.

Members of the committee intimated that they did not believe Keller began the impeachment in good faith.

They issued a subpoena to bring

Keller before them, intending to question him on this point, but Keller defied the committee and did not come. What further steps the committee will take is uncertain.

Mrs. Krateriski and her baby were carried out by the fire fighters. The physician followed. None suffered any serious injury.

FORMER BANK CASHIER TAKES WITNESS STAND

GREENSBORO, N. C., Dec. 19.—Basil Hedgecock, former cashier of the Home Banking Company of High Point, N. C., on trial in Superior Court here charged with making false entries on his books, took the stand today in his own defense. He admitted on the witness stand that he had signed a statement introduced by the state through the testimony of I. W. Birmingham, bank auditor, whereby a list of checks and notes totaling $69,931.26 was produced as being false entries, but declared that it was a "confession of his innocence and not of his guilt." He said that he had typewritten the list at the dictation of Mr. Birmingham and had signed the statement. When asked why he had signed the statement relative to false entries, Hedgecock said that it was for the "purposes of showing the property of the bank and of proving his own innocence."

The state today introduced testimony in an attempt to show a false entry of $10,000 by Hedgecock in the account of M. J. Wrenn. Hedgecock denied that this was a false entry, claiming he was "correcting an error."

The taking of evidence was concluded before court took a recess for the day and arguments by counsel was begun. It is said that the jury will be given the case late tomorrow.

The Home Bank Company of High Point closed its doors last April, when an alleged shortage amounting to about $100,000 was found.

FAILURE OF ARMS CONFERENCE IS DANIELS' PLAINT

WICHITA, Kas., Dec. 19.—What he termed the failure of the disarmament conference in Washington some time ago, was stressed in an address here tonight by Josephine Daniels, former secretary of the navy.

"Recent events" Mr. Daniels said "demonstrate that the disarmament conference failed in its purpose. England and Japan, it would appear, got the best of the United States in the agreement to scrap capital ships and placing a limit upon construction of light vessels and aircraft."

In touching upon administration affairs, Mr. Daniels declared "there are too many boards and commissions in Washington, working independently of the cabinet. All boards and commissions should be under the cabinet, except those having judicial functions."

Again referring to the disarmament in question, the former cabinet official declared "we cannot have a disarmament conference that will accomplish any material worth until the nations of the world agree to disarm upon land as well as the sea." Mr. Daniels voiced his opposition to the ship spending bill now before the Senate, terming it a "vicious policy."

NEW BATTING FIGURES ENTER SELECT CLASS

A steady rattle of base hits, frequently intermixed with the resounding echoes of long drives, again characterize American League games of the season. The advance guard of a new army of extra base smuggers this year, and it is largely through the efforts of these new men that the greatly improved pitching made so little impress on the season's averages. While a few familiar and honored names head this list, no less than 16 men in their first or second year are found among the 300 hitters.

This year, 12,041 safe drives of assorted types were registered out of 42,848 times at bat, which is an average of .44 in the number of hits as compared with 1921 of about .43-10 points, the grand average last year being just under .287. Two-base hits dropped 108 to 2632; three-baggers from 694 last season to 585, but home runs increased from 47 to 62.

St. Louis, making a valiant bid for the championship, won the Detroit from his favorite position as batting leader.

The Brown record is .313, as compared with .314 for the Tigers in 1921, while Boston, low clu' this season with .263, is 11 points below the Athletics' mark of .274 for last year.

There was a slight increase in the use of the sacrifice to advance runners, 1582 as compared with 1551 last year, but there were 12 fewer bases stolen, the figure being .681 against .683. Whether the art of pilfering the runner's way from sack to sack is really lost cannot be told, for only the fleetest of the players are allowed to match their speed and skill against opposing pitchers and catchers, and then only occasionally and under exceptional circumstances. The policy of playing for a number of runs in the sacrifice attack also accounts for the further decline in the use of the sacrifice, the hit-and-run play having superseded both the solo home and the sacrifice.

The base on balls has not been so profoundly affected by the passion for making long hits and getting runs in bunches as is the case with stolen bases and sacrifice. Batters are still permitted to "wait 'em out" with the result that five of the teams accumulated very respectable totals during the season. Cleveland with its smart veterans, worked opposing hurlers for 143 free tickets to first base. Detroit had 1300, the champion New York team 497; Chicago, 482; and St. Louis 453.

Explots of home-run batters occupied the attention of fans throughout the country, and there was much interest in the home-run "race" between certain of the leaders. Every team had its home-run hero, Kewalk Williams of the Browns, being the leader with 39, 26 less than the total set by "Babe" Ruth in 1921. Clarence Walker of the Athletics was second with 37, while "Babe" Ruth, in 110 games, cracked out 25 circuit smashers. Several other "fly-ball" hitters made home-run records that would have won them much attention in former years.

The leading batter of the year was the George Sister of St. Louis, while the incomparable Ty Cobb of Detroit was second. Cobb reached a mark of .400 for the third time, feat no other player has ever achieved.

The men who participated in 15 games or more, batted .300 or better

Aug. 23, his $40,000,000 heiress bride-to-be.

"Other fellows with girls they are planning to marry, should feel happy that their sweethearts hasn't the wealth that my Della has," he said.

JOE LYNCH WILL DEFEND TITLE

NEW YORK, Dec. 19.—Joe Lynch will defend his bare-knuckle boxing title against Midget Smith next Friday night at Madison Square Garden, promoters announced today, after the bout was played on Smith by New Jersey and New York Athletic and Boxing Commissions. The bout will replace the lightweight contest arranged between Johnny Dundee of New York and Joe Tipton of Philadelphia when it appeared Smith would be able to fight.

Smith's suspension was automatically lifted after he fulfilled last night an engagement to fight Johnny Curtin at Jersey City, N. J., Curtin receiving the verdict of newspapermen at the ring side.

Smith, 21, beat Smith to a bog by the New York State Athletic Commission waived its rule prohibiting a boxer from participating as a main bout contestant more than once in eight days.

PATS FOR PRIVILEGE OF RETRIEVING BALLS

ST. LOUIS, Dec. 18.—Retrieving lost golf balls on the municipal links has been so lucrative to Matt Malley, that he bid $50 for the 1922 privileges. This was made known this afternoon by the board of public works, in announcing Malley's bid had been accepted.

ness—she with everything, I with very little—that kept me from dreaming as I had always dreamt, of Dellora as my wife.

"That's why I say, that chaps who are engaged to girls who have no money ought to consider themselves lucky. Because, they might foolishly let money interfere, and make them afraid to ask the girl to marry them when the girl probably would consent."

Both Dellora and myself agree that since fate decreed she would have so much money, we had better be married as soon as possible. By marrying young, both of us feel that we can better grow up to an intelligent appreciation of the future, and more wisely use the fortune for good which has been left to her.

"I don't know how Dellora will use her money, and I don't care, so long as she uses it for good purposes, which I know she will. However, I'll be the provider for the home and foot the bill myself. We'll have a small car, and perhaps she'll have a maid. Of course I'll have to draw a lot of pictures to pay for things, but with her to inspire me, the thing will be easy."

Another has 250,000 miles to its credit, and so on.

No such group of cars was ever before assembled for such a strenuous proof of endurance. Their entry in competition, over one of the most difficult of Southern California's mountain roads, was an expression of confidence of the owners in Studebaker's everlasting goodness.

The dependability of the Big-Six Touring Car, its low cost of maintenance, its comfort, fine appearance and complete equipment make it the most desirable seven-passenger car on the market. Its price is way below cars that do not even approach it in value.

The name Studebaker is your assurance of value and satisfaction.

WEST VIRGINIA OFF FOR WEST

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., Dec. 19.—The West Virginia University football squad of 28 men, including coaches and trainers, left here late today for San Antonio, Texas, the meeting ground of the major football series.

The team will meet Gonzaga University Christmas Day. Although inclement weather and snow hampered practice during the past few days, Coach Spears said his men were in fine trim.

The squad, undefeated this season, will arrive in Chicago tomorrow morning. No other stop will be made.

Announcement was made today that the annual West Virginia football game will not be played next season. The chief reason is the addition of Rutgers College to the schedule. Rutgers will be played at the New York Polo Grounds November 6, election day.

Myatt, with the year's experience he had at Milwaukee, seems ready to make a big go of it in the American League. Cleveland, certainly thought so or it would never have made the big offer it did for his services.

Mr. Vernon swamped Calvary in the second game by the score of 36 to 12.

Calvary was short of two of their best boys but this would not likely have caused a reversal of score, as the Mr. Vernon boys were playing a high class game of ball passing finely and missing but four shots.

Watson, Gwynn and Ragland took turns in caging the ball. Gynn getting the high total of 7.

The line up: Mr. Vernon, Calvary

Gwynn, Ragland, Fultford, Farrell

OFFICERS PROBE

LONELY GRAVE

12-18 R. B. ff

BRISTOL, Va.-Tenn., Dec. 19. —

A party of officers are tonight making an investigation of a lonely grave found far back in the Holston Mountains today.

The grave was found by two of officers who were making a search for two men who have been missing in that community for three weeks and it is thought possibly that one or both of them may have been slain and buried in the grave found by the officers. The little mound of earth was carefully concealed by pine branches and leaves.

EGYPTIAN STUDENTS
COMING TO UNITED STATES

CAIRO, Egypt, Dec. 19.—Thirty-three Egyptian students have been selected by the Minister of Communication to be sent abroad to complete their technical studies. Ten of them will go to the United States.

These young men will study the latest developments in manufacturing processes. Following an agreement between the American Department of Commerce and the Egyptian government, one of them will be assigned to the training of some American railroad. Another will spend two years studying internal combustion engines. It has been arranged that a third will pass four years' apprenticeship in the naval shipbuilding yards, and another will spend two years in the telephone service. The other six will spend three years in automobile factories. All the ex-

A GIFT FOR EYEGLASS WEARERS

Most eyeglass wearers know that they should have two pairs, but many have only the ones they use.

An extra pair of glasses is an acceptable gift. These may be especially for dress, library or sport use, but they will also be extremely useful in an emergency.

Come in and talk it over. We have the prescriptions of most eyeglass wearers on our files, but if we haven't the prescription, we can probably get it.

BOUNDED BY NEW NECKLINE

Wearers are bounded on the north by a new neckline to the exacting square, the V-shaped, the modified round one.

Last season, fashion compelled the woman framed by a severe collarless bodice to show her collar bones.

—neccesive or not. Now she may return the same neckline but softened with wide drops of lace or narrow collars rimmed with many colors.

The V-shaped neckline is extremely popular. The square neckline has its adherents.

Senate Wrangles Over What

Farm Bill to Take Up in Lieu of Shipping Measure

—Borah Warns Republicans.

HOUSTON AS A PORT

Houston, Dec. 19.—A total of 908 vessels arrived and departed from the port of Houston in the first eleven months of 1922. The value of the cargoes carried totalled $119,265,000, compared with $62,900,000 for the corresponding period of last year. The bulk of these cargoes was cotton.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19.—What with wrangling over the sort of farm legislation it will consider and the ever ready filibuster as an alternative to the Senate contrived again today to push aside the almost friendless ship subsidy bill.

Both Borah and Brookhart supported the opposition with speeches, while on the other side of the fence Ransdell (Dem., La.) used up four hours in praise of it.

The net result was that the Harding-Lasker scheme had not moved an inch nearer passage. Senator Norris motioned to banish the subsidy; altogether and take up his bill for a corporation to buy and sell farm products was scheduled to come up today but was put off until tomorrow, when it promises to create another protracted diversion.

It served for controversy today, however, as to whether it ought to be admitted or whether it ought to be admitted or whether the Senate should delay a little longer for some of the more popular rural credit proposals now germinating in committee. The vote no this point is expected to fall, warning but the consequences to the subsidy will be the same in any event. It will be backed off the boards to stay.

Borah engaged in combat with the subsidy by replying to those of its defenders who say it is another phase of preparedness.

"If that's the case, then it should wait," he said. Citing from President Harding's recent message, the statement that the country entertained "no apprehension of war," Borah added that the President's reference to no application of the Four Power pact principle which signed a new one is immediately ahead.

"From what source comes the menace?" he asked. He declared it certainly could not come from Germany, Russia, Great Britain, France or Japan.

Borah said there is being expended this year for wars past and present, $2,600,000.
